(4) About the Nominee

To whom does this person report?

Though it is most common that the Page Up member reports to a Page Society member, this is not a requirement. However, the Membership Committee would like to understand the reporting relationship as a part of the nomination materials.

Reports to Me (Page member)

Reports to someone else (please provide more detail in the note of endorsement on Step #4)

How many years has this person worked in PR/Communications?

A strong candidate has 15+ years of experience in the profession. If less than 15 years, please explain in the statement of endorsement.

No. of Years:

Candidate's Position in the Organization

The following questions can help the Membership Committee understand the organizational structure and leadership potential of the candidate, especially in cases where the candidate's title may appear more junior than is actually the case.

(5) Note of Endorsement

Please provide a brief note of endorsement (1-2 paragraphs) below and/or as an attachment that outlines the reasons for supporting this nominee's selection.

Frequently Asked Questions

- What is the cost to participate?

For U.S. members, annual membership dues are $3,000 per person for corporate or agency members, $700 for educators and $1,200 for nonprofit/government members. For corporate or agency members based outside the US, dues are discounted as listed on the Page Up website. Membership runs on an anniversary cycle, meaning that your membership is valid for one year from the day you join. Annual dues cover membership, online participation and webinar/teleconference events. There are additional fees for most in-person events, such as attendance at the Spring Seminar in April or the Page Up Annual Conference in the fall, which is a separate event from the Page Society Annual Conference.

- May I sponsor a communications leader outside of my organization?

No. Page Up membership requires that the nominee work at the same organization as you do.
